Practical solutions to global challenges
The Dialogue of Civilizations Research Institute (DOC) is an international think tank that researches and develops proposals that address the key challenges faced by the international community.

The DOC funds its activities with the Dialogue of Civilizations Endowment, through private donations and grants. The DOC is a non partisan organization and is independent from any national government.

We develop practical solutions to pressing global problems

The Dialogue of Civilizations Research Institute builds on the World Public Forum Dialogue of Civilizations legacy and expertise

15 years of history
At the end of the 20th Century, the world was full of plans and ideas to improve the global political and economic system.

With the European Union having brought peace to the continent after two world wars, the United Nations Millennium Declaration* was adopted in 2000 by 189 world leaders.

*This 2000 UN declaration was replaced by the Sustainable Development Goals in December 2015 and ratified by 193 member states of the UN General Assembly

In 2000, Iranian President Mohammad Khatami introduced the idea of dialogue among civilisations while addressing the United Nations General Assembly

The initiative to create the World Public Forum Dialogue of Civilizations appeared in early 2000 in coordination with

Need to develop new policies to respond to the tectonic changes in the political, economic, social spheres of contemporary societies.

Need an independent and sustainable platform for joint research and discussions in order to develop a new and accurate picture of the world.

Need to understand and foresee a new model for global and regional inclusive and sustainable development.

Need to see new alternative perspectives and restore the media’s historical responsibility to provide people with objective and meaningful information.

Need to foster active discussion on the future of human civilisation in order to ensure its survival.

Rhodes does a good impression of a mini-Davos.

Since its creation in 2002, the Rhodes Forum held annually on the Greek island of Rhodes has sought to promote a new culture of dialogue.

President Milos Zeman will be at the Rhodes Forum, held on the Greek island by the DOC Research Institute on Sept. 30-Oct 1, along with Hungarian Prime Minister Viktor Orban and Slovak Prime Minister Robert Fico, a presidential spokesman said.

For the past 12 years the Rhodes Forum has brought together scholars, political and spiritual leaders, civil society organisations, scientists and the media to discuss their worries and concerns about our global destiny and try to steer the axis away from swords and towards dialogue.
